MyReloWorks® Launched by Parsifal Corporation

A long-awaited relocation solution for employees

Palm Bay, FL, (December 17, 2014) – Parsifal Corporation, after several years of development, has launched its newest technology known as MyReloWorks®. The system provides a long-awaited solution for corporations, employees and relocation management companies with a sophisticated, yet simple and user-friendly process.

With MRW™, client companies can now offer a powerful, online tool for their relocating employees. It is ideally suited for the online, do-it-yourself generation that prefers getting the job done through innovative solutions versus time consuming, customer service involvement. It is as easy to use as a travel search engine where you find the most convenient option at the best price, and then book it. Relocation allowances (lump sums) and/or corporate benefit policies can be added to the transferee's account, never before available in the industry for this type of technology. The allowances are credited to their account, from which employees can book and manage their best options for relocation services.

Additional features include: access to a managed network of quality service providers, real-time account budget tracking, service quality reviews and scores, easy transferee set up and email notification process, and VeriWeight™ audit analysis for pricing accuracy. When the move is completed, the system automatically includes additional cost protection for the user via a billing audit as well.

More information on MyReloWorks® is available at the Parsifal website with a clear and comprehensive summary of its cutting edge features and benefits, including a video which effectively and briefly presents all the major capabilities. Further product information is accessible via download, and a demonstration may be requested online or by contacting Dan David at 1-888-385-2961.
