Parsifal Presents New Corporate Design and Website

Palm Bay, FL, (December 1, 2014) – Parsifal Corporation, has refreshed its corporate design and logo, as well as launched a very contemporary and functional website. The new site offers clear and comprehensive information on Parsifal’s global relocation services and relocation procurement technologies (RPT).

Antoinette LaPetina, CTO at Parsifal, explains that “our substantial efforts in website development is all part of our larger commitment and mission to communicate our message of providing outstanding accuracy and sound fairness through our auditing expertise and other expanded services. At the same time, we have intensified the other side of our business to develop and execute quality-driven and innovative technology for the benefit of all our clients in the global relocation market place.” The most currently released technology known as MyReloWorks® receives much visibility on the website with a clear summary of its cutting edge features, including a video which effectively and briefly presents all the major capabilities.

With over 30 years of history protecting the industry with auditing expertise, Parsifal now offers a site visitor an opportunity to traverse over a wide array of other services including, home sale auditing, billing support, consulting and policy exception management. One may also explore the various technology products, all designed to provide quality relocation procurement such as, MyReloWorks®, MoveMetric® -Domestic MMD™ and International MMI™.

The Parsifal website is also well focused and organized for its different types of clients including corporations, relocation management companies (RMCs), service providers and government agencies. Navigation is very user-friendly allowing site visitors to quickly find summary information on each of the relocation services and RPT products available, with easy access to download further details. More information and support, including product demonstrations can be quickly and simply requested.
